METHODIST DEBT BONDS SCORE VICTORY AS GOAL IS SIGHTED

The Methodist Church today was within reach of its goal to free the property of debt.

The church will continue to sell bonds to bring in necessary funds for the June and September payments.

The results of the bond sale were agreed as highly satisfactory. With only a small amount yet to be raised to guarantee liquidation of the debt, the church will hear Rev. J. W. Mills on Sunday announce a new day and a new destiny for Methodism in Cameron.

In mapping the campaign, the pastor, Rev. J. W. Mills, capable leader, provided three payment dates through which the church debt may be liquidated. These maturties are in March, the date bonds are purchased, in June and September.

Based upon the success reported Friday night when the five day canvas was completed, sufficient cash was in hand to meet the March installment and although the cash goal was reached substantially for the June payment, it will be necessary to sell additional bonds. The canvas will be continued at the proper time for the September payment.

Despite these developments the campaign was successful and within the time contemplated the church will be free of debt.

Rev. Mills, both popular and capable leader, was enjoying the thrill of success along with the team captains and workers, and the loyal membership at large. Sunday at the church was looked forward to as a new day in the history of the church.

Contributions made Friday by Mrs. H. F. Smith, Sr., and Oxsheer Smith, her son, substantially guaranteed the success of the campaign. Mr. Smith and his mother are giving one third of the total amount raised by the entire membership.

The Smith cntribution was made on condition that the church membership raise at each maturity date one third of the cash required. The contribution, it was said would be approximately $3500.

A grateful membership and an admiring citizenship at large, was expressing its appreciation to Mrs. Smith and son for this substantial loyalty to the church.

ALLIES WILL MAKE OWN PEACE TERMS

England and France will make their own peace terms.

As the result of Under-Secretary Sumner Welles visit to Europe as a fact finding diplomat for President Roosevelt it was deemed advisable in the British Capital Monday for an official statement outling the Allied position.

While the statement was nothing more than a repetition of previously declared war aims, it was regarded as certain now that there is no hopes for peace.

If the statements can be relied upon the door has been closed. Just what Hitler said to Welles may not be accurately outlined by the press comment or radio broadcast.

In Washington Sunday it was said that peace efforts have been written off and all hopes have been abandoned.

With all nations involved declaring that the peace terms made by the other are impossible the people were momentarily expecting the long delayed war.

There was intense fighting on the western front after a long delay. Air battles were taking a heavy toll of ships.

England announced she would continue to send aid to Finland. The Finns expressed belief they could hold out a long time with a minimum of aid.

The Italian government protested British contraband of German coal being shipped to Italy. The British made no effort to appease the Italians and this was regarded as indicating that the allies are disregarding all neutral rights to enforce the export ban against Germany.

Old Masonic Lodge Photo Made in 1888 Is Located in City

History is written in photographs.

This was proven when Penn Wolf, District Clerk, found in the home of his mother, Mrs. J. B. Wolf, an old picture framed in the elaborate style of the Eighties.

The photo was made in 1888 of the officers and a few members of San Andres Lodge A. F. & A. M. The lodge room was in the second story of the Baptist Church, a white frame building then located on the exact spot where the fire equipment station now stands.

The lodge later met in the up-stairs portion of the old tax office that stood on the northeast corner of the court house lawn.

Because of its aristocratic origin, and its simple yet practical characteristics, "Tufting" was thought worthwhile to pass on to club members, Miss Dorothy Porter pointed out when the Bryant Station HD Club met for a recent meeting.

Unbleached domestic or sheeting was suggested for bedspreads, decorative pillows, etc., otherwise the cost of your article would run so high that it would be cheaper to buy a thing ready made. A thread count of 68x72 is preferable in the material because it is firm enough to hold the thread when clipped, yet woven loosely enough to allow needle to go through with ease. Do not wash material before tufting because, shrinkage helps to hold the tufts more firmly.

Always start in the center of article and work outward when stamping a design, for the most interest falls on the center, Miss Porter warned.

The stitch should be 3-4 inch long provided a guaged needle is used, otherwise 7-8 of an inch should be marked off with a rule to regulate stitch, because the needle takes up a little space.

A Boy's Place in the Home

Co-operation by all members is needed for a good family life, Mrs. L. H. Obermiller told members of the Bryant Station HD Club on February 22.

In the present day of labor savers, the boys take small part in the work about the house which is bad for the boys. Why shouldn't they help wash dishes and help put them away. They, as well as girls, should understand, appreciate and practice cleanliness.

Mothers are apt to think a child will outgrow untidiness, but a boy thus trained seldom changes. He who is trained in childhood in neatness, cleanliness and orderliness, grows up to be a man with whom it is a joy to live.

ALLIES WILL MAKE OWN PEACE TERMS

England and France will make their own peace terms.

As the result of Under-Secretary Sumner Welles visit to Europe as a fact finding diplomat for President Roosevelt it was deemed advisable in the British Capital Monday for an official statement outling the Allied position.

While the statement was nothing more than a repetition of previously declared war aims, it was regarded as certain now that there is no hopes for peace.

If the statements can be relied upon the door has been closed. Just what Hitler said to Welles may not be accurately outlined by the press comment or radio broadcast.

In Washington Sunday it was said that peace efforts have been written off and all hopes have been abandoned.

With all nations involved declaring that the peace terms made by the other are impossible the people were momentarily expecting the long delayed war.

There was intense fighting on the western front after a long delay. Air battles were taking a heavy toll of ships.

England announced she would continue to send aid to Finland. The Finns expressed belief they could hold out a long time with a minimum of aid.

The Italian government protested British contraband of German coal being shipped to Italy. The British made no effort to appease the Italians and this was regarded as indicating that the allies are disregarding all neutral rights to enforce the export ban against Germany

History is written in photographs.

This was proven when Penn Wolf, District Clerk, found in the home of his mother, Mrs. J. B. Wolf, an old picture framed in the elaborate style of the Eighties.

The photo was made in 1888 of the officers and a few members of San Andres Lodge A. F. & A. M. The lodge room was in the second story of the Baptist Church, a white frame building then located on the exact spot where the fire equipment station now stands.

The lodge later met in the up-stairs portion of the old tax office that stood on the northeast corner of the court house lawn.

Reading from left to right: C. H. Yoe, Worshipful Master; C. R. Wright, pastor of the Methodist Church; James Peeler, superannuated pastor of the Methodist Church and grandfather of Mrs. R. L. Batte, Sr.; T. F. Hardy, later Cameron banker and President of the Cameron State Bank; J. W. Davis; George E Worcester, father of M. L. Worcester; Captain A. J. Stone, at that time County Treasurer; W. C. Ross, father of Cole Ross; D. Demp, father of Judge Jeff T. Kemp; David Meyers who gave the land on which St. Monica's Church and St. Anthony's School are located; W. M. Gill who was county clerk at that time; Tom Cass, brother of the late Dr. N. Cass and Dan Cass; C. W. Meyers, brother of the late Lou Meyers; George H. McGehee who recently died and the father of Mrs. Joe Denson, Miss Alice McGehee and George McGehee of Cameron; Anton Lesovsky, uncle of F. S. Lesovsky; R. S. Porter, pioneer merchant; J. W. Morris believed to be the only one of the group now living and last heard of as a lawyer in the coast country; W. H. Scott, father of Miss Delphya Scott; Major James B. Moore, father of George T. Moore, Miss Mollie Moore and the late Monta J. Moore and Henry Y. Moore; Captain J. B. Wolf, father of Penn Wolf, Wyatt Wolf and Misses Minnie and Nell Wolf of Cameron.

Mrs. Marvin Sykes of Austin was in Cameron for the week end to visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sykes.

NEWS FROM Bryant Station

Because of its aristocratic origin, and its simple yet practical characteristics, "Tufting" was thought worthwhile to pass on to club members, Miss Dorothy Porter pointed out when the Bryant Station HD Club met for a recent meeting.

Unbleached domestic or sheeting was suggested for bedspreads, decorative pillows, etc., otherwise the cost of your article would run so high that it would be cheaper to buy a thing ready made. A thread count of 68x72 is preferable in the material because it is firm enough to hold the thread when clipped, yet woven loosely enough to allow needle to go through with ease. Do not wash material before tufting because, shrinkage helps to hold the tufts more firmly.

Always start in the center of article and work outward when stamping a design, for the most interest falls on the center, Miss Porter warned.

The stitch should be 3-4 inch long provided a guaged needle is used, otherwise 7-8 of an inch should be marked off with a rule to regulate stitch, because the needle takes up a little space.

A Boy's Place in the Home

Co-operation by all members is needed for a good family life, Mrs. L. H. Obermiller told members of the Bryant Station HD Club on February 22.

In the present day of labor savers, the boys take small part in the work about the house which is bad for the boys. Why shouldn't they help wash dishes and help put them away. They, as well as girls, should understand, appreciate and practice cleanliness.

Mothers are apt to think a child will outgrow untidiness, but a boy thus trained seldom changes. He who is trained in childhood in neatness, cleanliness and orderliness, grows up to be a man with whom it is a joy to live.

equipped him far better than most men and because of his great ability he has been able to make the most of his opportunities and now the people may profit by his knowledge and understanding of the details of this office.

Mr. Wolf plays his part as a citizen. For years interested in the welfare of boys and young men he has rendered outstanding service to athletics and every phase of clean sport which is so essentially a part of American life. As a fraternalist Mr. Wolf five years ago received from the Knights of Pythias a jewel signifying 25 years of continuous membership and service to the order.

The office of District Clerk is doubly important because it is an office of records, vitally affecting the lives and the welfare of thousands. These records deal with problems of law. These records must be kept right and experience counts most when details of this kind are the daily routine. The slightest error might result in irreparable damage and injury.

A most responsible commission is the handling of the Trust Fund. These funds belong to widows and orphan children. During his term in office Mr. Wolf has been custodian of more than three quarers of a million dollars in money of widows and orphan children. Today this fund is as throrougly intact as when it was first instituted. Mr. Wolf can produce canceled checks and receipts showing receipts and disbursements on this fund accounting for every penny. The funds in hand are subject to disbursement under court orders and the interests of each widow and orphan child can be satisfied immediately.

Mr. Wolf has issued thousands of warrants and not one has been questioned. These warrants are drawn on the Treasurer in payment for many obligations incurred by the county in the process of cases in court and other similar demands.

A record of which his many friends are justly proud is the making of transcripts to the higher courts. He enjoys the distinction of never having had a single one returned because it was improperly compiled. Mr. Wolf has assisted more than 500 to become naturalized American citizens and his naturalization records are among the most efficient in the impressive service he has rendered.

When the Social Security law was adopted in Texas the aged people found the office of District Clerk open to them. Mr. Wolf assisted hundreds with their old age assistance aplications. Often his office was crowded throughout the day. His interest in the welfare of those asking for assistance is charactristic of his friendly interest in everyone. Mr. Wolf is happy to have been of assistance to so many and today he continues to do many things of helpful nature, not purely a matter of duty in his office.

Under the law Mr. Wolf might justly claim clerical assistance in his office but has consistently declined. He has thus paid back into the treasury of his county many thousands of dollars which he could have spent for help. Instead he has felt that the people expect their District Clerk to be a hard worker and he has taken care of all the duties without extra cost to the people.

Mr Wolf is grateful for your consideration and hopes to see each voter during the campaign to ask for their support. He asks for you vote on his record which is unexcelled anywhere, and promises to continue in the faithful discharge of his duties and to maintain a high standard of efficiency so necessary to the safety of funds and the rights and interests of the many who annually know the value of the kind of service he has rendered in this office.

Friends have characterized Mr. Wolf's record in the following impressive outline: "A faithful performance of public service in the past is the best guarantee of like serviee in the future."

R. L. BATTE INJURED

R. L. Batte, Sr., sustained two broken ribs on his left side Tuesday afternoon while roping a steer. Mr. Batte became entangled in the rope and was thrown against a gate by the steer. He is progressing nicely and will be out soon.

Vegetable Laxative With Proved Feature

The punctual, satisfying relief from constipation and its headaches, biliousness, bad breath, so often experienced by users of this laxative, is mainly due to its combination of purely vegetable ingredients.

BLACK-DRAUGHT'S principal ingredient has high medical recognition as an "intestinal tonic-laxative"; helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles.

A little of this spicy, aromatic product by simple directions at bedtime, generally allows time for a good night's rest; acts gently and thoroughly next morning.

Next time, take time-tested, economical BLACK-DRAUGHT.

Pruett

as a teacher and as a resident who has been a close observer and student of educational needs. One of the best tributes paid to him by friends is the fact that during his five years as head of the schools at Yarrellton some 20 school teachers were graduated from the student body of the school.

Mr. Pruett has a unique record. In each community where he lived to head the school system, progress was noted in every department of the educational facilities of the community. It was especially gratifying to see the immediate effect of his leadership for he was always able to obtain co-operation and because of his exceptional ability was able to bring about the desired progress thus improving the school facilities and playing a leading role in the community. As county superintendent Mr. Pruett would at once understand and appreciate all of the problems of the rural schools as well as those of high schools.

In making his announcement Mr. Pruett issued the following statement:

"Since this is the year when it becomes necessary for the voters to select their officials I am offering myself as a candidate for the office of County Superintendent of Public Instruction in Milam County.

"I am a native of Milam County. Have lived all my life in Milam County except a few years while away teaching. Have taught in this county at Branchville, Yarrellton and San Gabriel. I was born on a farm and grew there to manhood. Received all my grammar school education in a one tacher, one-room country school.

"I am a graduate of the Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos, Texas, and hold a B. S. Degree from that institution. I also hold an M. A. Degree from the University of Missouri with my major work in school administration under some of the greatest instructors in that field in the United Staes. I feel that my educational qualifications are ample and adequate for the position I seek.

"I have taught in schools from the one-room, one teacher school to being superintendent of high schools employing more than thirty teachers. I have also taught courses during the summer in school administration.

"Working my way through both high school and college I feel that I am in a fair position to understand some of the problems that come to parent and student many times in their effort to acquire an education.

"If I am elected your County Superintendent I shall endeavor at all times to work for the best interest of the schools so that our boys and girls may secure the best education possible. While under the laws my duties will lie largely with the rural or common school districts, I shall strive to be of aid to all the schools.

"For the past four years I have been in business for myself and have met some of the problems that come to the tax payer. I feel that I can keenly appreciate the problems of adequate financial aid for the schools and yet not have taxes that are burdensome.

"It is my purpose to meet the voters each an everyone personally and solicit your vote but in the meantime my best reference is anyone who knows me.

"If you will be kind enough to inquire about me and if you find me deserving and qualified I will appreciate anything you can do for me."

MOLOTOFF TO BUCHAREST

Calvert Man is Held on Charge of Failing to Render Aid

For failure to stop and render aid which is a grave offense under the Texas law, J. R. Woodall of Calvert was placed under arrest by Constable B. F. Bailey at 9:30 Tuesday morning on the streets of Cameron.

Mr. Woodall is charged with failing to stop and render aid to Mr. and Mrs. Alacm Clenentt after his car colided with the Clenentt machine at the intersection of highway 69 and the Marlow road on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Clenentt was said by officers to have sustained a leg injury, the seriousness of which could not be learned. Woodall was realesed under a $500 bond.

gives due credit to them for the success he has attained. He has the good will and co-operation of all the people, and although possessing the genius for organization and co-operation with others, he realizes fully the importance of confidence in public officials and is grateful for the public favor and support which have come to him to enable him to be of service in so large a way.

One of the outstanding achievements of Judge Kemp's administration is the financial standing of Milam County. By obtaining as well as extending upon his part whole hearted co-operation with the commissioners court and the county auditor, the finances of Milam County are a model of thrift and strength, so much so that Milam County enjoys a unique position among the Counties of Texas. The finances of the County have been closely guarded and its credit has been maintained to a degree unexcelled any where.

Judge Kemp has been helpful in assisting aged citizens in Milam County and even some out of the county to secure old age assistance. Although he has no official connection with the officials of the law he has been helpful and considerate by rendering assistance.

As a member of the legislative committee of the Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas, he helped secure passage of the Bond Assumption Law. This law will lower the tax rate for 1940 in all road districts in the county whether or not any part of them contain a designated highway.

Tax payers of the County assisted in this matter by signing and circulating petitions to the legislature.

Judge Kemp has been vitally concerned over the problem of unemployment and has worked with the Commissioners Court in securing P. W. A. and W. P. A. projects from Milam County, thereby giving employment to many deserving citizens. Despite financial aid for these projects the County tax rate in 1939 was reduced by the court.

An early advocate of home demonstration work, Judge Kemp has steadfastly co-operated with and fostered the good work being done by county agents, home demonstration agents and the county health nurse.

Within the past 2 years the highway commission has had Ben Milam Highway No. 36 surfaced with asphalt from Milano to the Burleson County line, and has beautified highway 44 from highway 36 to Minerva. Judge Kemp has been active with members of the court in securing these road benefits for Milam County. In the near future highway 190 will be surfaced from Maysfield to Splawn for which the right of way was secured by the commissioners court at great expense.

As a trial judge, members of the bar have commended his fairness and equity. In criminal cases justice has been tempered with mercy and in this regard Judge Kemp has been generous, sympathetic, and helpful. He has also protected the interests of society.

In the coming campaign to see and to talk with the people will be a genuine pleasure for Judge Kemp, and he assures each one their vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 10.

The Golden Text is: "O man greatly beloved, fear not: peace be unto thee, be strong, yea, be strong" (Daniel 10:19.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life, (John 5:24.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is deathless, spiritual. He is above sin or frailty. He does not cross the Barriers of time into the vast forever of Life, but he coexists with God and the universe" (page 266.)

Thousands of Red soldiers were killed, the snows being littered with dead on both sides. The Finns called their 20 year old boys to the colors.

BLACK SEDAN MAY BE CLUE TO ROBBERY

Two bags, containing first class and other mail received at 4:30 a. m. Thursday for distribution at the Cameron Post Office, were missing around 6 a. m. today.

Albert Collins discovered the robbery at 6 a. m. when he reported for duty at that hour. The burglars forced their way into the Post Office by the use of pinch bars at the north entrance.

An attempt was made to blow open the Green & Boedeker store safe but nothing was reported stolen. Officers believe the robberies were committed by the same party of thieves. An early morning employee of the street department for the city reported having seen a black sedan parked in front of the Methodist church around 4 a. m. Officers were making an effort to establish identity of the machine.

Near the safe in the Green & Boedeker store officers found a small quantity of wire and a fuse cap.

John R. Hays, postmaster, said that a postoffice inspector from Ft. Worth had been notified and would reach the city during the forenoon. Mr. Hays said two mail pouches were missing and the robbers apparently had made no attempt to take anything else from the office.

Sheriff R. M. Kennedy was cooperating and said that an officer from the Public Safety Department in Austin would be here to assist in the investigation.

"Build-Up" Good News For Suffering Women

Much of women's periodic distress may be unnecessary!

Many who suffer from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain, other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition are helped by CARDUI.

Main way it helps relieve periodic distress is by increasing appetite and flow of gastric juice. Thus it often aids digestion; helps build strength, energy, resistance to periodic disturbances.

Others find help for periodic discomfort this way: Start a few days before and take CARDUI until "the time" has passed. Women have used CARDUI more than 50 years.

The tariff question is almost as old as the United States of America As tariffs have been increased industry has strengthened itself at the expense of agriculture. As industry has become strong it has secured higher and even higher tariffs; finally, culminating in the outrageous Smoot-Hawley tariff of 1930. This tariff resulted in the immediate enactment of retaliatory tariffs against the United States by most of the nations of the world. The result was that not only did the tariff act to keep practically all imports out of the United States, but it kept our exports out of the nations of the world as well. We were unpleasantly reminded of the fact that we can't continue to sell our products to other nations and refuse to buy any of their products.

If a Central Texas farmer produces a bale of cotton and that cotton is ultimately sent to France, both the vital productive elements of American soil and the time or labor of American citizens—the very lives of human beings——have gone into the cotton and are carried with the cotton out of our country. Unless America gets in return something that can be used—something that represents at least an equal combination of natural and human resources, America is poorer by reason of having exported the cotton. But if we receive in return for the cotton which is required, let us say 250 man-hours of human labor, some useful article the production of which in this country would have required more than 250 man-hours of human labor, as for instance a case of French sardines, then America has been benefited by the trade.—And if the article sent to America in exchange for the cotton could have been produced in France for less than 250 man-hours of human labor, then both nations profited by the exchange, and the people of each nation will be able to enjoy a higher standard of living with the same expenditure of human labor (life.)

This is the fundamental reason for trade—the exchange of goods between people on a basis which enables each party to the exchange to acquire more of the desirable things of life than he could acquire if he were to undertake to produce everything he needed for himself . We readily recognize the advantage among individuals. On it depends all specialization of production. It enables one man to grow cotton, another beef, another to make cloth, etc., and by exchange of goods between them each one of them has more of all of the needed goods than would be possible if each attempted to produce and fabricate every article needed by that family. In other words trade lets each individual and each locality specialize in the article he or it can produce with the least expenditure of effort.

The same relationship exists among nations. We need trade if we are to raise the standard of living. Each part of the world should produce these articles it can produce with less expenditure of human life (labor) than any other section, and should depend upon trade with other nations for these things which other nations produce more efficiently. In this way exerybody the world over would have more of the goods he needs. It is possible to grow rubber in Texas, but is not practicable (it would probably have to be grown under glass Is it not, therefore, better for Texas and the United States to produce cotton, oil and cattle and trade these things for the rubber, coffee and tin that we need than to attempt to follow the European effort to become "self sufficient?" To become self sufficient, any nation must be willing to sacrifice a tremendous portion of the effectiveness of its human labor—in other words, it must be willing to force its people to do a great amount of useless labor and thereby to lower its standard of living.

The protective tariff system of the Republicans sacrificed the America living standard by destroying the opportunity for our farmers to exchange their products for the greatest possible amount of useable goods. The present Administration, on the other hand, has sought to in some measure restore our markets by working out reciprocal trade treaties with various foreign nations whereby we lower our tariffs on the goods we need from those countries and they lower their tariffs on goods that they need from the United States. This plan is not as rapid in its working as many would like, but it avoids the serious economic upsets that would of necessity follow a complete and immediate reversal of our tariff policy. As I see it, this plan is practicable and offers the greatest possible benefit to all parties. Certainly it offers some hope for the recapture of lost foreign markets, and it assures America that we will get actual useable goods that will help our people in return for the American products we export. The House has just voted 216 to 168 to continue this sound policy. I voted for the reciprocal trade policy as did most of the Democrats.

With best wishes.

Buckholts Will Get School Gymnasium

A school gymnasium will be constructed at the Buckholts school under terms of a bond election held Friday in which 81 votes were cast for the expenditure and only one against.

The election authorized the expenditure of $5500 for the district's part. Plans have been made to proceed with the improvement and although no announcement has been made it is believed that government aid will be had for the building thus insuring a much larger building than the bond issue indicates.

The Commissioners Court making the canvas of the vote on Saturday reported the election to be the most nearly unanimous ballot recorded in many years.

BRITISH SEIZE ITALIAN COAL SHIPS TUESDAY

Two Italian ships loaded with German coal were seized today by the British navy.

In all ten Italian ships have put out to sea from Rotterdam, Holland, loaded with German coal for export to Italy.

On yesterday the Italian government sent a vigorous protest to England declaring the action of Great Britain unjustified and harmful to the interests of Italy. The British made no effort to appease Italian wrath but proceeded to seize the ships.

The ships will be taken as a prize of war and the contraband cargo will be confiscated and paid for by a prize court at the end of war according to international law.

British determination to enforce ban on German exports was believed to be fixed as the risk of incurring Italian disfavor was weighed and cast aside in the war on German commerce.

There was no war anywhere today except in Finland where the 168th Russian division was reported to have been trapped and taken by the Finns.

On Lake Lagoda where the battle is raging the Finns have been slaying Red army troops by the thousands but superior manpower was gradually forcing the Finns back.

Turner

fully to their problems, and has usually managed some way to help them. His services to the citizens of Milam county have not been confined to the prescribed duties of his office. He has offered his assistance in connection with all programs and projects that he believed would be beneficial to his people.

The candidate's first term in office has been marked by unusual activity. In recognition of his dependability and his grasp of current problems, he was appointed to committee positions equal in importance to those occupied by many veteran members of the House. He was also called upon to assist in sponsoring and piloting some of the most important measures introduced during the regular session in 1939.

The nature of his work is illustrated by his untiring efforts to settle the state's social security problems. He became a recognized floor leader for all measures designed to raise revenue for the payment of liberalized old age pensions, for proper care of dependent children, the blind and the insane, and for completion of the teachers retirement plan. He was co-author of House Bill 417 which provided for raising thirty-five million dollars for social security by a graduated tax on the profits of gas, oil and sulphur; and he suffered a great disappointment when this measure was killed by the Revenue and Taxation Committee of the House. He was one of the original signers and supporters of House Bill 340, providing for the collection of approximately thirty-two million dollars in taxes on natural resources and certain types of luxuries, which, after a long and bitter fight into which he threw all his strength on the side of the people, finally passed the House by a vote of one hundred and sixteen to twenty-eight only to be killed in the Senate.

He assisted in sponsoring House Bill 908, a measure providing for full payment of the state's social security obligations by a tax on natural resources and on incomes in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars a year of corporations doing business under the protection of the laws of Texas, which passed the House by a vote of ninety-nine to thirty-nine and was likewise killed in the Senate. Finally, he assisted in revising and rewriting Senate Joint Resolution 12 as it came from the Senate, striking from its consumer tax provisions the tax on food and on work clothes, and increasing its levies on gas, oil, sulphur and the utilities. In its revised form, which distributed the tax burden of this measure according to ability to pay, he helped secure its passage in the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, of which he was a member, and then supported it on the floor of the House. After he and the other proponents of this measure had made at least ten attempts to secure its adoption, they saw it finally die, falling only six votes short of final passage.

Mr. Turner showed equal regard for all the problems of his people. He assisted in the passage of the Texas Soil Conservation Act, which is recognized as one of the best laws of its kind in the United States and numerous other measures that are of particular value to the farmers. As a result of his keen interest in the schools of Texas, he became a very active member of the Committee on Education. He was responsible for the passage of a law which provides that the State shall furnish free text books in typewriting to students taking that subject and free text books in band and orchestra music to boys and girls who qualify for school bands. The fact that these subjects have never been on the free text book list before has caused a great disadvantage to children coming from poor homes. His many other contributions to the school system of Texas include his assistance in obtaining more generous use of available school money both for the general educational program and for rural aid.

A staunch advocate of more economy and greater efficiency in the administration of state affairs, he assisted in cutting the department appropriations $1,608,587.36 a year, and in eliminating a large number of unnecessary jobs. He also assisted in the passage of a measure which consolidated the kindred and overlapping duties of the State Relief Commission, the Old Age Assistance Commission, and the Division of Child Welfare into one agency known as the Department of Public Welfare, thus effecting a great saving to the tax-payers. He was one of the sponsors of House Bill 688, commonly known as the Road Bond Assumption Bill, which provides that money accumulated in the County Road Indebtedness Fund of the state treasury shall be devoted to the retirement of county road bonds and the construction of new lateral roads. (Milam County's share in this fund over a twenty year period will be approximately $834,339.)

Mr. Turner has many splendid qualifications to offer in the office of Representative. His experience as a farmer, a wage earner, and a business man have given him a vivid realization of the problems of the average man and woman. His college education, which he earned by doing manual labor after school hours, added the element of proper training to his natural ability. Now he has had two years of actual experience as a member of the Legislature which he can give his constituents the benefit of if he is elected for a second term.

In speaking of his platform for re-election, the candidate made the following statement:

"My policies in the future will be the same as they have been in the past. If I am elected for a second term I will continue to devote my entire attention and my total strength to my service to the people. I am eager to renew my fight for the full payment of old age pensions and other forms of social security, and I believe that if the people of Texas will exercise proper care in their choice of Representatives and Senators this important question can be settled in the next regular session of our Legislature. I shall continue to work for the best interest of the farmer, the wage earner, and the business man; and one of my chief concerns will always be the agricultural and industrial development of Texas. The constant improvement of our school system and the proper training of our boys and girls are matters that will ever lie close to my heart I shall continue my efforts to instill more economy and greater efficiency in our state government. By untiring efforts to consolidate and reorganize departments in the cumbersome structure of our state government, I believe that we can make our administraion of state affairs the most efficient in the nation, and that we can at an early date begin to retire our shamefully large state deficit."

Directing his remarks to the people of Milam county, Mr. Turner said, "I want to take this means of thanking you for the support and co-operation you have given me during my first term in office. It has been a happy privilege to serve you. I have tried hard to serve you well. My work in the Legislature is not completed; and I earnestly request your continued support in my campaign for re-election."

Nabours

His friends point out that co-operation is achieved through courtesy and understanding and these qualities abound in the generous and friendly nature of Mr. Nabours.

The office of county clerk embraces a wide field of service to the county government. It is the clearing house for all activities of the various branches of the government and because of its important position with reference to these activities, becomes a place of prime responsibility and requires an enormous amount of devotion to details.

In its relationship to the public the office of County Clerk is the traffic center of business transactions. The importance of personality looms large in the picture. Efficiency is a first requirement and every day on the job loyalty to duty is required to maintain the high average of service that has characterized the work Mr. Nabours has done for the people and for the county government.

In the beginning Mr. Nabours whose broad experience in business led him at once to fully appreciate the responsibilities of the office, retained the services of trained and efficient clerks. The people of Milam county congratulate Mr. Nabours on the success he has brought to the administration of the office through its present personnel. He fully appreciates the high estimate that has been placed on the work of his assistants and in the future he will continue to provide the best of facilities through a trained personnel and modern methods of service.

It is significantly important to note that the service Mr. Nabours and his assistants have rendered, has raised the standards of service to the highest possible degree and this trend to better government has been widely noted among the people, so much so that in hundreds of instances the office and Mr. Nebours have been praised for outstanding performance of duty.

Mr. Nabours makes no claim for any special consideration because he has performed his duty well. He takes the view that when he pledged the people this kind of service and they expressed their confidence in him by electing him to the office, it was only being fair and loyal to his promises to give them the service which has met with such widespread approval throughout the county and state.

The Nabours family, its name and members, belong to the historic background of Texas. The romantic story of Texas herds going up the trail to write a new chapter in the story of empire found a Nabours in the van of events. It is a matter of pride to friends as well as the family to recall the immortal story of Emmerson Hough, "North of 36," in which Old Jim Nabours, later to be in Lincoln county, New Mexico when Billy the Kid fought a syndicate of russlers who killed his boss, was the first trail driver.

From the Del Sol near Lockhart, so the story is written, Jim Nabours as trail boss, after the Civil War, took Taisie Lockhart's herd of cattle up to Abiline where the Union Pacific had spilled a raw town at the foot of the rails in the roaring Seventies. In that day when the Texas cattle Barons found themselves impoverished after the war and without a market for millions of cattle on the range, they headed west and north to the railroad. The story of Texas' cattle empire is familiar to every Texan.

While conditions have changed vastly since Jim Nabours took the first trail herd up with the famous longhorn steer, Alamo, leading the way, his nephew Homer Nabours, your County Clerk, still holds the family touch with cattle. He is secretary of the Central Texas Livestock Association and as such is doing a fine job for cattlemen who are members of the organization by the hundreds.

Mr. Nabours is fortunate as a candidate for re-election because he has a record on which he may safely rely to merit the continued confidence of the people. In making his announcement he gratifies hundreds of friends in all sections of the county who, appreciating his service, will see that his campaign is favorably presented to the people.

In return for favorable expression of the people in his behalf he pledges his experience which now guarantees the most efficient administration possible, his loyolty and energies, to fulfill all expectations in the light of the historic and traditional service rendered by public officials in Milam county who have earned the esteem of a grateful public.

With every consideration for your co-operation and confidence, Mr. Nabours sends you greetings and wants your vote and support. In the coming campaign he hopes to talk with each one to ask their support and in the intervening weeks hopes his friends will become active in his behalf.

Carter Brogdon, former member of the Herald staff and now a student at A & M College, was in Cameron late Friday but returned to the college for an entertainment. He will be in Cameron this afternoon to spend the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Brogdon.

Extension Class for Teachers at Buckholts Meets on March 5th

Daniel Baker College of Brownwood has organized an Extension class at Buckholts and has a very good class. This is the first time this type of work has been offered at Buckholts and many teachers are taking advantage of the work offered.

Regular college credit is given for extension work and a student may take six hours credit. Teachers who need more hours for a degree or certificate consider this a service to them as it enables them to do college work and at the same time do their teaching in local schools.

The Buckholts class meets Tuesday night, March 5, at the school building.
